

Teele Hooper-Worrel

Teele is an active member of the Australian Rabbit Managers Network and peri-urban rabbit forum. She brings valuable insight from working directly with community and landholders to facilitate rabbit control.

Teele has worked in the NRM and Biosecurity fields for the last decade within the Peel region of Western Australia. Now working as the Executive Officer of the Peel Harvey Biosecurity Group, one of 14 Recognised Biosecurity Groups in WA. Teele leads a team delivering biosecurity education, expertise and services across the Peel Harvey region.

After completing environmental tertiary qualifications Teele has focused on sustainable land management, equine landcare, biosecurity and peri-urban property management. As well as developing skills in communications, project management, leadership, strategic development and governance.

Teele lives on acreage in Serpentine, Perth and enjoys competing in eventing and triathlons.

